

CONGRESSIONAL.

WASHINGTON, Friday, March 12.

SENATE.—The private calendar was taken up, and sixteen bills, of no public interest whatever were ordered to be engrossed. The bill making an appropriation to complete the Cemetery near the City of Mexico was passed.

The Senate adjourned till Monday.

HOUSE.—The House went into Committee of the whole on the State of the Union, and proceeded to consider the Senate Joint Resolution authorizing the continuance of the work on the two wings of the Capitol.

After some debate the subject was passed over informally.

Mr. Brown, of Mississippi, made a party speech on the Southern Rights movement, which he said went down with the first Union Convention held in Mississippi.

Mr. Wilcox rose and retorted sharply on Mr. Brown. My colleague, said Mr. W., says there was no party in Mississippi in favor of secession. I had thought that the gentleman had too high a regard for truth to make a declaration so baseless of truth. (Sensation.)

Mr. Brown asked if his colleague charged him with falsehood.

Mr. Wilcox.—I have spoken boldly. My language cannot be misunderstood on that point.

Mr. Brown.—Do you mean to say that what I have stated is false? (Looking sternly at his colleague.)

Mr. Wilcox.—If you mean to say there is nobody in Mississippi in favor of secession, it is false.

The last word was scarcely uttered before Brown drew off and planted a blow in Wilcox's face. Wilcox returned it, and both clenched.

The scene of confusion that followed was most terrific. Brown was dragged off to a distance, and Wilcox jumped on his desk shouting that he could whip him. Calls, in vain, were made for the Sergeant-at-Arms; the Speaker rushed into the House, took the chair, rapped to restore order, which was partially obtained after a long effort. The Chairman of the Committee reported progress.

Both Members then made very humble apologies to the House, asking forgiveness, and entreating the country's pardon for their most disgraceful conduct.

A resolution was adopted to terminate the debate in one hour after the House shall again go into Committee. After much confusion the House then adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, March 13.

HOUSE.—Mr. Polk of Tenn., rose to a privileged question and said:—It is usual, I believe, and therefore I am gratified to be able to state to the House, that the recent unfortunate difficulty between the two representatives from Mississippi (Messrs. Brown and Wilcox) has been adjusted in a manner highly creditable to both parties, and that they now occupy the same position of friendship which existed between them previous to the affair of yesterday.

The House went into Committee of the whole on the State of the Union, on the resolution authorizing the continuance of the work on the wings of the Capitol.

Various amendments were offered, and a debate took place in favor of minute speeches.

After further proceedings, the amendment appropriating five hundred thousand dollars for the extension of the Capitol was agreed to.

The committee rose, when the amendment was concurred in, the resolution passed, and the House adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Monday, March 15.

SENATE.—Mr. Chase of Ohio submitted a resolution instructing the Secretary of War to communicate certain maps of New Mexico. Adopted.

The joint resolution in favor of continuing the work upon the Capitol was then taken up.

Mr. Mangum spoke at some length on the subject, when, on motion, further consideration was postponed.

The Iowa land bill was then taken up. Mr. Cass spoke in favor of it. Upon conclusion, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—Mr. Johnson of Arkansas offered a resolution to appoint three additional Pages, which will increase the number to fifteen; resolution was finally adopted.

The House then took up the memorial of Mr. Reynolds, contesting the seat of Richard H. Weightman, delegate from New Mexico.

The memorial was finally referred to the Committee on Elections, and the House adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, March 16.

SENATE.—The Chair presented the mechanical portion of the Patent Report for 1831, and stated that it had been delayed, awaiting the completion of Commissioner Riddle's report of the World's Fair. Numerous petitions on various subjects were presented.

The resolution to continue the work on the Capitol was referred to the Committee on Public Buildings.

Mr. Borland offered a resolution that the Committee on Public Buildings make a thorough examination of the foundation of the proposed addition to the Capitol, and the materials used.

The resolution was adopted, and the Senate then proceeded to the consideration of the Iowa land bill.

Mr. Bell submitted an amendment providing that lands from the old States be selected within the territories only. Adopted. The bill was then ordered to be engrossed viva voce vote, and the Senate adj.

HOUSE.—After the reading of the journal Mr. Houston moved to go into committee on the Deficiency Bill, which was agreed to.

Mr. Hillyer took the floor, and replied to the remarks of Mr. McAllen sometime since, that the Union party was composed of all factions. This Mr. Hillyer denied, and stated that the Union party was an united one.

He next proceeded to speak of the furious efforts and movements of the disunionists of Georgia.

Mr. Giddings followed in a speech against slavery in the District of Columbia.

Mr. Gwin offered an amendment providing for the public sale of lands before they were subject to entry. The yeas and nays being taken it was adopted, 33 to 6.

The amendment of the Committee was then concurred in.

Mr. Appleton of Maine obtained the floor when the Committee rose. Adjourned.

RECALLED FROM COTTON, Wednesday, March 17.

Mr. Gwin presented the credentials of B. Weller, Senator elect from Texas, six years from March 4.

In refusing to go through the doorway the fire engines were sent for, and poured an immense stream of water on the assembled crowd, who were exasperated, and a shower of stones next demolished the windows of the factory. Several parties were seriously injured. The magistrates subsequently investigated the case, and fined the manager £5 for his illegal conduct on the occasion.

The shipping returns of the Board of Trade for the month ending the 5th of Feb. had just been issued, and exhibit an increasing failure of all the evil predictions that attended the repeal of the navigation laws.

ANOTHER FLUID EXPLOSION.—We are informed that a glass fluid lamp, of the construction in common use, with two wicks, exploded while in the hands of a lady, in Georgetown, on the evening of Feb. 27. The accident occurred at the residence of O. B. Tenny, in the building occupied, in front, as the office of the Farmers' M. F. Ins. Co. The explosion caused a report as loud as a pistol. The lamp was nearly full of fluid, and was held in the hand of Mrs. Tenny when it exploded. She placed the remains of the lamp on the table. The top was screwed on tight, and there was apparently no aperture for the flame to communicate with the fluid. One of the sleeves of Mrs. T.'s dress took fire, but she managed to put it out. The top of the lamp (a very thick glass one) was blown off and the burning fluid scattered in all directions, setting fire to a clothes horse, and parts of the room, but the flames were promptly extinguished by Mrs. T., who threw upon them a couple of pails full of water which were fortunately near. Much damage, if not the total destruction of the building, was probably prevented by the fortitude and well directed energy of Mrs. T. She has ever been cautious in the use of fluid. On the very day of the accident she had been reading the Register's account of the dreadful consequence of the explosion in Salem, and had concluded to use no more fluid, then what she then had in the house, being over careful of the lamps on this evening. Mrs. T. will communicate any more particular details of this explosion, which may be in her power, to any who wish to be informed. The top of the lamp is at this office.

THE YACHT AMERICA.—Some time since an English paper, envious of the fame of the beautiful yacht America, started a report that the purchaser was disappointed with her, and was anxious to sell her at a reduced price. This report, which was eagerly seized upon by most of the English press, was, no doubt unfounded. By the following extract from a letter, dated Malta, February 6th, it will be seen that this beautiful craft on her Mediterranean voyage, acquitted herself with much satisfaction to all concerned:

"The America, the wonder of the day among yachts arrived on 2d inst. She came in in beautiful style, after laying-to four hours in a heavy gale from the N. N. E. Her noble owner, Lord de Blaquiere, is loud in her praises as a vessel of remarkable speed and buoyancy. She will lie within four points of the wind and do her fifteen knots an hour with ease. Since leaving England she has had a fair share of heavy weather, and had there been any truth in the prognostics of her detractors, that her masts would be carried away in bad weather, and other similar follies, there was every possible opportunity for their being realized. But the pretty craft nobly did her duty, doing her 14 knots for a whole night, when running with but her jib set, and setting all had weather at defiance. During her stay she has been visited by numbers of persons. The America will proceed to-morrow to Alexandria.

THE NAVIES OF ENGLAND AND FRANCE.—The British Navy at the present time consists, altogether, (exclusive of old ships for harbor service) of 545 vessels, great and small, including steamships. Of these, 87 are ships of the line; 66 are sailing frigates; 21 corvettes, or sloops-of-war, and 124 are smaller vessels, capable of carrying 20 guns and under. Five of the ships of the line, including the Royal Albert of 129 guns, and the St. Juan d'Acre of 100 guns, are fitted with powerful engines as screw steamers. Of the steamships-of-war there are 16 screw frigates, 12 screw steam sloops, 12 screw steam ships, and 116 steam frigates with paddle wheels.

The French Navy, at the present time, consists—old and new, great and small, and on the stocks—of 328 vessels, including steamers. Of these, 30 are ranked as ships of the line. There are 50 frigates; 4 corvettes; 50 briggs, 30 vessels of 600 tons, 16 gun brigs, schooners and tenders, and 16 transport ships. Besides these there are 102 steamers (including 50 pickets) afloat and building in the ships. There are 10 steam frigates, 20 sloops or corvettes, and 2 floating batteries, one of 400 and the other of 500 horse power.

ADVENTURE OF AN OWL.—The Middle-town, (Conn.) News says that on last Sabbath morning, there having been a storm the night previously, the young man who has charge of the Meeting House in Cromwell, found, on opening the stove, an owl, nicely caged therein. As the house had been locked, and the keys in possession of the young man during the week, it is evident that the owl must have, Santa Claus-like come down the chimney, a distance of about forty feet, entered a five and a half inch stove pipe from the chimney, travelled through its dark recesses some fifty feet, and then descended the pipe ten feet to the stove, where, not able to continue his explorations any longer, he awaited his deliverance.

Intelligence has been received at Dorchester, England, that two men, named Thomas Sergeant and Allen, belonging to the Amazon, have landed at Weymouth. They assert that they were picked up by a Dutch vessel after floating about with two others (who perished from cold) for two days upon a life buoy. Sergeant states that they were not far from the Amazon when she blew up, and that a piece of the wreck struck Allen on the shoulder, and that he thought he was killed. Allen is said to have the mark upon his shoulder now. The story is scarcely credited.

MORMON ENIGMATA FOR THE GREAT SALT LAKE.—Nearly three hundred families are said to be at St. Louis, preparing for a journey to the Great Salt Lake, as soon as the ground is sufficiently settled to admit of safe travelling. It is now indicated that not less than five thousand persons will emigrate to the Mormon settlement. The most of them will leave the frontier at Kanab, travelling the north side of the Plateau.

THE MYSTERY EXPLAINED.

THE MYSTERY EXPLAINED.—Mr. Simons, the mysterious tracks, which have excited so much curiosity in several towns in this State and in Massachusetts, it appears to me, admit of an explanation, without resort to the marvellous. During this remarkable cold winter, unusual numbers of birds whose home is in the north have been driven southward into more hospitable regions. Among the largest of these occasional visitors are the cinereous, or great grey owl, (the largest of the kind in this country,) and the snowy owl. The former is very rarely seen; though it has been in a few instances as far south as Massachusetts. But the latter is less infrequently to be met with. It is a winter visitor, seldom seen before November, or after February. It is found along the sea-coast as far as Georgia; and in the West as far down as the lower parts of Kentucky. It is a bird of the night, being seldom abroad before sunset, or after sunrise. Its flight is very rapid. It feeds on squirrels, fishes, and mice when they can be found upon its beat, and it will sometimes pursue and capture ducks and pigeons. In the West it will sometimes attack turkeys upon the roost. Its bushy plumage makes it appear larger than it is. The weight of the male is about four pounds, and of the female, (which among birds of prey is usually larger than the male,) about four and three quarter pounds. But to the main point in explanation of the "mystery,"—this owl has a foot covered with feathers, which curve under it; and when it stands upon the ground and its talons are retracted and bent under, form a smooth edge or padding, which, I should suppose, would give an impression on soft snow very much like that described as the impression of "a cat's foot." The feathers curved and bent under, would correspond very well with the rim of the hoof three-quarters of an inch wide, as described, making a hollow which would give the raised impression in the snow. It would not require a greater weight than that of this owl to make the impression in soft snow. Its eye sight adapts it to nocturnal flights; and its fondness for vermin would account for its being seen in the neighborhood of cellars, barn doors, or pig pens. The tract of country in which the foot marks were found would be but a short flight in a few hours for these birds. A small flock of them may have passed through Massachusetts and across Rhode Island in November, and may have returned in February, according to their usual period of migration to and from the South. Occasionally one of these birds has been shot in the State. Such, Mr. Printer, is the two-legged animal which may have made the "tracks," when in search of food during its nocturnal excursions, or emigration; and, until some better explanation shall be offered, I shall take the liberty of accounting in this way for the recent phenomena in Kent County and elsewhere. AUBURN.

The above is from the Herald. The view taken is confirmed by the following extract from an article upon the same subject communicated to the Advocate by Cromwell Whipple, Esq., of Coventry:

"In one place, the track terminated abruptly, and a sweeping furrow, as though possibly made with the tip of a large wing, in the line of a quarter circle, extended about seven feet, and the track commenced again."

"We are also opposed to monopolies," and insist upon an "open field and fair fight." But in the case of Collins, the fight is unfair, and the field is not open. The competition is unequal. The Cunards are sustained by the British Government. Let John Bull withdraw his protecting aid, and we would not give Collins a dollar."

PRECISELY.—This is the case, too, with many branches of American industry, which are met not only by the fair competition of labor, skill, and capital, but with the direct bounty of government upon rival fabric. There are articles of American production upon which the duty is heavier on the manufactured article than on the raw material. We agree with the Mirror, and we cannot agree to restrict the application of its doctrine to a single line of steamers, however creditable it may be to the country. Let us all fare alike, and we will not complain of the measure of protection; but we will not agree to vote large sums to this single branch of industry, and when we ask for incidental protection to others, to be answered with a long homily upon the impropriety of government interference, and the great principle of the world for a market, and every man to buy where he can buy cheapest.

MUSIC OF THE SEAS.—A correspondent of the Journal of Commerce, noticing the article from the Newburyport Herald in relation to music being heard in the sea off the coast of Chili, says:

"I think the cause very easy of solution. In the summer of 1845, I remember being at St. Joseph's Florida, and our usual walk after tea was upon the wharf reaching one-third of a mile into the bay, to imbibe the refreshing sea breeze and 'listen to the music.' This music was created by numbers of the common (at the South) drum fish, in their feeding expeditions about the piles of the extensive wharves; and the sound could be heard quite a considerable distance."

THE SCHOOLMASTER ABROAD.—The following was circulated by the disconsolate loser of a box, which had been miscarried, among the Railroad Conductors on the Chesapeake route. It is copied verbatim, et litteratim, et punctatim:

"Pias to hand this bill to the Conductors that this box would be found with have been lost from foliover to Worcester with is a grate damage for porfoox the box as got the top red the age grean lood 2 feet by 11-8 feet wide it belong to Eynes Maheu but sent to Alfred Lapoint Worcester it as got astrap for handle each enn lost about 4 mounts ago."

FIRE IN TIVERTON.—A barn belonging to Charles F. Searle, in Globe Village, Tiverton, was totally destroyed by fire on Thursday night, about 12 o'clock, together with 2 horses 3 cows, several pigs, a number of carriages, and a quantity of hay. Mr. Searle had no insurance, and the fire is said to have been the work of an incendiary.

THE PIN AND THE NEEDLE.

THE PIN AND THE NEEDLE.—A Fable. Lemuel Smith, the acute and philosophical editor of the Madison Record, tells the following fable, which is as good as anything we have seen out of Æsop: "A pin and a needle, says the American Fontaine, being neighbors in a work basket and both being idle, began to quarrel, as idle folks are apt to do. 'I should like to know,' said the pin, 'what you are good for, and how you expect to get through the world, without a head?' 'What is the use of your head,' replied the needle, rather sharply, 'if you have no eye?' 'What is the use of an eye,' said the pin, 'if there is always something in it?' 'I am more active, and can go through more work than you can,' said the needle. 'Yes, but you will not live long.' 'Why not?' 'Because you have always a stitch in your side,' said the pin. 'You are a poor crooked creature, said the needle. 'And you are so proud that you can't bend without breaking your back.' 'I will pull your head off, if you insult me again.' 'I'll pull your eye out, if you touch me; remember, your life hangs by a single thread,' said the pin. While they were thus conversing a little girl entered, and undertaking to sew, she soon broke off the needle at the eye. Then she tied the thread around the neck of the pin, and attempting to sew with it, she soon pulled off its head and threw it into the dirt, by the side of the broken needle. 'Well, here we are,' said the needle. 'We have nothing to quarrel about now,' said the pin; 'it seems misfortune has brought us to our senses.' 'A pity we had not come to them sooner,' said the needle. 'How much we resemble human beings, who quarrel about their blessings till they lose them, and never find out they are brothers till they lie down in the dust together, as we do.'"

LOSS OF THE HENRY CLAY MEDAL.—The magnificent gold medal presented to the Hon. Henry Clay, by a number of the citizens of New York, as a slight token of their appreciation of his public services, was lost on Saturday evening in this city, under the following services. It appears that after the presentation Mr. Clay discovered some deficiency in the lettering on the medal, which he wished rectified, and accordingly gave it in care of Miss Emma C. Lynch, the poetess, to bring on to this city, in order that the desired alteration might be made by the engraver. This medal, valued at $2500, was enclosed in a massive silver case, and was placed by Miss L. in her carpet bag, in order that she might keep it by her side.

In company with two friends of hers, a gentleman and lady, she arrived in the city on Saturday afternoon by the 2 o'clock Philadelphia train, when the three took a carriage. One of the party, the lady, left the carriage at her residence in Walker at—

at this time the carpet bag, which had been placed outside, was seen all safe, but upon the arrival of the carriage at the corner of Broadway and Grand street, Miss L.'s destination, it was gone, having either been thrown off by the driver, or accidentally lost.

The committee at New York have ordered another to be made for the one lost. The carpet bag which contained the medal was found under a milk cart.

A FLOWERY TRIBUTE.—At the Charles F. Searle, a few evenings ago, several times during the performances, the actors, as well as that portion of the audience occupying the parquette and boxes, were greeted with a shower of something white, which seemed to be thrown from one of the upper tiers. At the point of time which defined the limit between the virtue and the absurdity of patience, it was discovered that the authors of this floral demonstration were facetious young gentlemen, occupants of the third tier, being provided with a bag of fine wheat flour. They were held to bail by the Mayor to behave better for the future, but surely to that end not at once appearing, the flourulent youth were looked up for the present.

LINEN.—It is announced that an important discovery has been made in Ireland of a process in Linen Manufacture, which it is anticipated will make an era in the history of that manufacture. It consisted of a new process of bleaching and finishing the linens after they are woven, by which the great length of time required in the ordinary process is dispensed with, and the goods can be finished in the space of ten days.

EMPLOYMENT FOR HUNGARIAN REFUGEES.—We learn from an authentic source Gov. Kosuth has rented a large warehouse belonging to Mr. Keck, near Plainville, nine miles from the city, in which it is arranged to furnish employment for numbers of Hungarian refugees who are now idle, in making saddles and accoutrements for those who shall join in the battle for the independence of Hungary.—Cincinnati Gazette.

A PARTY OF TWENTY HUNGARIANS have reached Cincinnati en route for Missouri, to purchase a tract of land to settle upon and cultivate. The party is in charge of Captain Gratzke, and they have sufficient means to purchase 10,000 acres of land, and the necessary agricultural implements for cultivation, and to stock the same.

Two men named Martin and Ellis were arrested on Wednesday night near the foot of 21st street, New York, having in possession four dead bodies and the shrouds of twelve others. The bodies were packed in barrels, and addressed to Mr. Newhall, Worcester, Mass.

The London Times says it has taken some pains to ascertain the number of persons arrested in France within the last few weeks, and it is assured, by the best authorities, speaking on sufficient evidence that the number probably reaches 100,000.

OMNIBUSES FOR THE SAN JUAN ROUTE.—It is stated that a carriage firm in Concord N. H., have received an order from Vaunderbilt, for the manufacture of eighteen Omnibuses to be used on the San Juan route across the Isthmus.—Bost. Trans.

In the southern part of Arkansas, near a mountain of iron, a mountain of emory or corundum has been discovered, equal if not superior to the Russian material. In the Arkansas emory, as in that of Russia, the climate of Oregon is delightful, pure, the cold is never severe, and in the villages vegetables grow throughout the year. The spring opens early; the country is thousands of small streams, offering good water, and nothing is lacking but active energy to develop the resources of hill and valley stream.

There was a rule in an old debating society which might be advantageously recommended to some of our public bodies, that "any gentleman wishing to speak the whole evening, should have a room to himself."

Beef was selling at from $50 to $100 per barrel at Panama.

A new paper, to be called the Cotton Plant, is established at Washington.

SATURDAY MORNING, MARCH 20, 1862.

LIBERIA.—In promptly putting down the late insurrection and meeting out the proper punishments to the ringleaders, has shown herself capable of taking care of her people, and that she is determined to maintain the laws of the Republic. The history of Liberia is one of prosperity and permanence. The country has been explored to a considerable extent, its resources developed, the natives civilized, trade expanded, laws maintained—and, as President Roberts says in his address, "every fundamental interest of the government and people seems to bear the impress of divine favor and approbation." And he further adds:—

"The people of Liberia are unquestionably solving the greatest of political problems, the capacity of the African race for self government; and I have not the slightest doubt that, under their hands, the African continent will be the seat of a government, a name, and the fruits of civilization and Christianity. And gentlemen, by the divine blessing, you have already accomplished much for down-trodden Africa, and it is every encouragement for your efforts, and every encouragement for the work committed to your hands. Will it be asked, what have you accomplished? The answer is at hand, and though the enemies of Liberia may attempt it, cannot be gained."

You have successfully warded against that curse of all curses, the detestable slave trade, and by your exertions have aided in effecting the redemption of those monstrous in human shape, who once infested this coast. You have relieved thousands from innumerable distresses consequent upon the ravages of cruel wars, instigated by heartless slave dealers, and with other thousands brought them within the pale of civilization. And above all, from Liberia has gone forth the light of Christianity, penetrating the very depths of heathen superstition and idolatry, in that every direction may be seen the sons of the forest giving earnest heed to the story of the Cross.

In the same address the President expresses the hope that the republic is not yet recognized by the Government of the United States as an independent nation; but hopes

BLISS' JENNY LIND

Hot Air Cooking Range.

THIS RANGE, manufactured and offered to the public at a low price, is the most desirable ever brought into this or any other market; possessing as it does, qualities heretofore unobtainable for compactness, convenience, economy and neatness. The Jenny Lind is justly celebrated as the range of the "new" era, and its popularity is attested by the fact that it has been found in each and all the ranges in use, the Jenny Lind excepted; and so well known are the merits embraced in this unique design, that it will in all probability, shortly be the only valuable article in the market. With those who have tested its worth, it stands A. 1., and those who have for years suffered the inconvenience and annoyance of having their bread baked to a crisp on one side with an equal portion of dough on the other, (as is too often the case with the "old" ranges) will find the Jenny Lind will do well to call at No. 117 Thames street and order one of the beautiful ranges manufactured by the subscribers, who pledge themselves to give satisfaction to all who favor them with their patronage.

WARRANTED PURE COD LIVER OIL!
JOSEPH BURNETT, APOTHECARY,
No. 33, Tremont Row, BOSTON.

OFFERS to the public this valuable remedy for Consumption, Scrophulous, and Rheumatic Affections, in the state of the greatest purity, it being prepared by himself from FRESH LIVERS of None but Healthy Cod.

Of the value of this Oil, in the affection above named, it is almost superfluous to speak at this time, when its merits are acknowledged by the most eminent of the Medical Faculty, and its adoption in their practice has been almost universal.

Dr. J. C. Williams, of London, after prescribing it

400 Cases of Consumption, (in 234 of which he preserved full notes,) states in the London Journal of Medicine, "The result of experience, confirmed by rational consideration of its mode of action, the Pure, Fresh Oil, from the liver of the Cod, is more beneficial in the treatment of PULMONARY CONSUMPTION, than any other agent—medical, dietetic, or regimenal—that has been employed."

Public should be cautioned that in consequence of the HIGH REPUTATION deservedly enjoyed by the GENUINE COD LIVER OIL, many unprincipled persons are imposing upon the public a worthless article, prepared from common Whale or Sperm Oil, or that of other fish, bleached to resemble in appearance the Oil from Cod Liver.

An impure oil, or that prepared from stale or diseased livers, may be productive of deleterious consequences, causing aggravation of disease, derangement of the digestive economy, &c. &c. It is!

The Utmost Importance

that the article should be not only COD LIVER OIL, but also of the FRESHNESS and HEALTHY LIVERS; and of the nature of the advertisement warrants the article offered by him as especially worthy the attention of medical men, and others who suffer from the diseases above specified.
